LABOR MEN REFUSED "CLOSED SHOP" PLAN

Board of Affairs Turns Down Union Carpenters on Coal Run Job.

Labor union men over the city are up in arms over the refusal of their request for a "closed shop" on the Coal run bridge contract as was attested at the meeting of the Trades Council on Sunday afternoon.

The matter was taken up with the Board of Affairs and they dodged the issue according to union men by putting it up squarely to the Casey Contracting company, of Pittsburgh, which has the contract. The labor union received a telegram from the Casey firm to the effect that they would not observe a "closed shop" in regard to contractors on the bridge, but would be glad to give any carpenters work there.

As a result of the unsuccessful effort of organized labor the trades union decided yesterday to notify all the locals in regard to the action of the Board of Affairs.

CHRISTMAS MAIL FOR THE TROOPS ABROAD

If Must be Started in This Country by November 15.

People who have relatives and friends doing war work of one kind and another have begun to think about getting Christmas presents to them. Well, so has Uncle Sam, and if they will just do what their good Uncle tells them to do and then leave it to him their presents will be put into the hands of the recipient by Christmas morning. Right into the trenches, if the loved one happens to be a soldier with the Expeditionary force, and not a single package late. The Postoffice department has said it is going to be done, and the whole machine is already at work to make good.

To begin with, Christmas mail for the American forces abroad must be posted in this country not later than the fifteenth of November; it must be securely packed, fully addressed and plainly marked "Christmas Mail." All three of these points must be carefully attended to. Getting package mail to a battle front is no easy task. Packages must be handled many times and at top speed. See to it that every article that goes into the package is tied and that the package itself is covered with something that will stand considerable rough usage without giving way.

Make the parcels as small as possible. One of the big problems about this Christmas mail is transportation space. This is such an important matter that the postoffice authorities have said that the smaller parcels will be given preference in shipment. If possible all parcels should be under ten pounds in weight. As to what may be sent the usual postal rules apply generally, with a few additional ones which have been suggested by common sense. Do not put into the mails for the front anything that will spoil or deteriorate within six weeks from the date of mailing. And do not try to put across liquor or other forbidden matter. All the parcels will be carefully examined. That, by the way, is another matter that should be given consideration in the wrapping. Finally if there is anything you are in doubt about regarding this Christmas mail call at your postoffice. The department has sent elaborate instructions and the postoffice people will be glad to help you in any way then can.

FRUIT PICKERS SCARCE. KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 15.—The orchardists are begging for help. There is not one of them who could not use from ten to twenty-five men for the next two or three weeks.

SCOOT WEST WRITES TO HIS FOLKS HERE

Says Uncle Sam is Taking Good Care of His Nephews in France.

W. H. West, of this city, whose son Carl West, well known to many Fairmont people as Scout West, is an aviator on active service with the American forces somewhere in France, has just received a letter from the young man. The letter, which was written on British Y. M. C. A. paper with the familiar red ink triangle in the upper left-hand corner, was dated Somewhere in France, September 17, and was addressed to his father, sisters and brothers. It is as follows:

Just a line or two. Would have written sooner, but have been traveling. Have had a wonderful time and am feeling fine. This is a wonderful country and you can bet I will have lots to tell you when I get home. Can't write and tell you all about things here like I could in Texas, but don't worry about me, for Uncle Sam sure knows how to take care of his boys. Of course things are different here. We don't have to have stamps. All you do is write your letter, leave it open and mail it; they do the rest. You know it takes a long time to get mail here from you and mine to get to you, so write often and I will do the same. Address me like you see the words at the top of this paper and it will get to me some time. Write and tell me all the news and how you all are. With love to all, from your son, CARL WEST.

REPORT SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

ASLEEP AT SWITCH IN GUS SUN'S SHOP

Attraction Hippodrome Advertised Failed to Get Here Today.

A mystery as yet unsolved developed at the Hippodrome theatre this morning when Manager Fisher and the house crew got on the job to get things in readiness for the "Yankee Doodle Girls" who were booked for this theatre for a full week beginning at the matinee today. In the morning's mail letters were received addressed to the company and some to individual performers, the latter it being supposed were members of the girl show. Soon, however, a class-looking individual called on the management and exhibited a telegram which instructed him to report at the Hippodrome for work. Later two others appeared with credentials showing that the Gus Sun Booking Agency, at Springfield, Ohio, had sent them here to participate in a vaudeville bill which the agency had framed for the house, all of which presented a perplexing situation for Manager Fisher, he not having been informed as to any change in the booking arrangement.

Two weeks ago the house received a signed contract through the booking office placing the "Yankee Doodle Girls" here for this week. Aside from some correspondence begun by Mr. Fisher to make sure of the quality of the attraction, the arrangements were thought complete.

When the usual advance matter—pictures, etc.—advertising the show failed to arrive at the house last Saturday Mr. Fisher wired the Sun office for an explanation. Several more telegrams were sent later, neither of which were answered. An effort to arouse the Springfield office on the long distance was also unsuccessful. What mystifies those concerned most is that two letters stamped at 6:30 October 13, one addressed to the tab show and the other to a vaudeville team turned up in the morning mail. Manager Fisher deduces that the agency had evidently expected both to arrive here, which was more than he bargained for. Waiting until it was impossible to wait longer the management decided to put on the vaudeville bill and immediately engaged the players.
